About Therapy

If it seems you have been abandoned, are frequently anxious, depressed, or angry and are experiencing issues related to others that are robbing you of joy and energy, I can help find solutions and resources to restore hope.

As a Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist, I am trained to diagnose and work with individuals, couples, and families. My first career was as a Registered Nurse, so I have a good understanding of medical concerns as they may relate to emotional well being. I have recently completed a certification in Sex Therapy through the American Board for Christian Sex Therapists and have a strong knowledge base for helping individuals reclaim their sexuality and joy. A particular area of expertise is the treatment of childhood sexual and physical trauma in which I have extensive training, personal understanding, and commitment.

I believe that what a client shares in the counseling room is "sacred." Therefore, issues are explored in the context of a relationship of trust, confidentiality, and respect. Ultimately, I am committed to helping individuals find hope emotionally, spiritually, and physically using sound principles and psychological practice.

Areas of Expertise

- ♦ sexual concerns for couples and individuals
- ♦ effects of childhood sexual/physical trauma
- ♦ post traumatic stress disorder
- ♦ group therapy for sexual trauma survivors

couples therapy

- ♦ relationship problems
- ♦ sexual intimacy
- ♦ extra-marital affairs
- ♦ conflict

Other Areas of Service for individuals

- ♦ depression
- ♦ anxiety disorders
- ♦ family conflict
- ♦ life stage adjustments
- ♦ loss and grief
- ♦ dealing with anger issues
